Women's History Month

Greeting HTES students, March is Women's History Month, so I am going to be discussing why this celebration is so important. This shaped America, especially women, women from all walks of life, no matter their skin color or background.

This wonderful celebration of all women began March 8, 1857, in New York City. Women who were working in factories participated in a protest. They were protesting the conditions in the workplace. Once all those women's voices were heard the state established a day called Women's Day in 1909. Since then, congress has expanded this day into a month, making March officially Women's History Month.

Teacher Interview with Ms. Doris

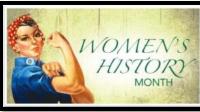

This month Charlie and I interviewed Ms. Doris, she said that when she was little everyone told her mom that she was going to be a teacher and now she is. Ms. Doris has been teaching for 33 years and she does not regret it at all. One of her students from NYC told her that Florida is the best continent and Ms. Doris laughed and told them that Florida was in the U.S., and they had a little disagreement. Ms. Doris also told Charlie and I that she was at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and one afternoon she realized that she knew nothing about the school, and she wanted to know more. She said that she is so happy that she chose to get to know the kids at the school and the staff and she loves all of us.

Stay tuned for next month's teacher!

St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day, also known as feast day of St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland. St. Patrick was born in Roman Britain in the late 4th century. When he was 16 years old, he was kidnapped and taken to Ireland as a slave. Thankfully he escaped, but in 432 CE he returned to convert the Irish to Christianity. By the time he died on March 17, 461, he had established monasteries, churches, and schools. Some legends about him are that he drove snakes out of Ireland and used the shamrock to explain Trinity.

St. Patrick's Day was originally celebrated in Ireland with religious services and feasts to honor St. Patrick. When the Irish immigrants brought St. Patrick's Day in the U.S. the day evolved into a secular celebration of Irish culture. St. Patrick's Day is celebrated annually on March 17, this is the anniversary of St. Patrick's death in 461.

Women in the Workplace

8% of young women between the ages of 16-18 have been actively working since the 70s. Did you know that as of 2022, more than 168 million women live in the US? Many degreed professionals are women. It is important to recognize how today's women are breaking stereotypical assumptions.

Finally, after everything that women have encountered, I want to share this message; "There is something so special about women who dominate in a man's world. It takes a certain grace, strength, intelligence, fearlessness, and never taking no for an answer." - Rihanna

Easter Sunday

Easter is the principle holiday or feasts of Christianity. It marks the resurrection of Jesus three days after his death. For many Christian churches, Easter is celebrated as a holiday as it represents the fulfillment of the prophecies of the Old Testament. Easter also celebrates the defeat of death and the hope of salvation. Christian traditions hold that sins of humans were paid for by the death of Jesus.

But when is Easter? Well in 325 the Council of Nicaea decreed that Easter should be on the first Sunday following the full moon after the spring equinox, which is on March 21. Therefore, Easter would fall on any Sunday between March 22nd and April 25th. On the other hand, Easter Orthodox churches use a different calculation based on the Julian calendar. As a result, they celebrate Easter celebrations later than Roman Catholics and Protestants.

Though where does the word Easter come from? The English word Easter, which is like the German word Ostern, is of unknown origin. Most likely it comes from the Christian designation of Easter week as in albis. Albis is a Latin phrase that is the plural of alba, which means "dawn". This becomes eostarum in Old High German. The Latin and Greek Pascha, which means "Passover", provides the root for Pâques, this is the French word for Easter.
